

Efficiency Partner Tips – November 2020

No-cost energy efficiency training available for SMB customers

SaskPower in partnership with Natural Resources Canada, is offering eligible small and medium business customers no-cost energy efficiency training until March 31st, 2021 or while funding is available.

All virtual energy efficiency courses offered by the Canadian Institute of Energy Training (CIET) before March 31st will be considered.

1. See the available CIET virtual training course here: <https://cietcanada.com/training-calendar/>
2. Contact SaskPower at customer_programs@saskpower.com to get your discount code
3. Sign up for the course online at no-cost and improve your energy efficiency knowledge

No-cost energy efficiency audits available for SMB customers

SaskPower in partnership with Natural Resources Canada, is offering eligible small and medium business customers no-cost energy efficiency assessments until March 31st, 2021 or while funding is available.

A walk-through energy assessment includes an energy expert assessing a property to help you lower your power costs while following COVID-19 safety protocols. A detailed report on the business' energy usage and costs will be produced, along with opportunities to save money. More information and the application form is available on our website.

Tips to improve your lighting Efficiency

- Replace your incandescent bulbs with ENERGY STAR qualified LED lights.
- Turn off any lights that are unnecessary during work hours. Turn off all lights after hours.
- Install automatic lighting controls to ensure that the lights are off when not in use.
- Use task or focused lighting instead of overhead lighting; light only areas that are needed at the time.
- Increase the output of your lights by regularly removing grease, dust and other dirt from bulbs, fixtures, lenses, lamps and reflective surfaces.
- Replace incandescent exit lights with ENERGY STAR qualified LED exit lights.

Find more tips by using our free online assessment tool online Energy Assessment Tool for Businesses.

